

Meeting 15: Māyá in the Vedic religion

Wisdom? magic? illusion?

Nikhil Surya Dwibhashyam

5 June 2022

Some questions to consider

- What was māyá, originally?
 - What were its different aspects within the Vedic religion?
- How did māyá evolve in the post-Vedic period?
 - In the Purāṇá-s?
- How did Śramaṇá & Vedánta change the connotations of māyá?
- How are non-Hindu conceptions of māyá to be distinguished?

Māyá in the Ṛg-vedá's lexicon

māyá f. (MW on ṚV)

- Art, wisdom, extraordinary or supernatural power
- Illusion, unreality, deception, fraud, trick, sorcery, witchcraft, magic
- An unreal or illusory image, phantom, apparition

The māyā-b^hedā hymn (10.177)

- Very varied interpretations
- Sun? bird? more spiritual?
- What is māyā here? illusion?

Māyá in the At^harva-vedá

- Generally same as in ṚV
- But more emphasis on sorcery aspect given context
- Also, importantly: AV 8.10.22
 - Māyá supposedly “personified”
 - Really title for a woman

Māyā & morality

- Is māyā deceit?
- Is māyā a bad thing?
- Similarity to Abrahamic religions?

Māyá outside the Vēda

- Emphasis on illusion develops
- Emphasis on deceit still present
- Emphasis on power & magic?
